He has become the first ever player in HEAT history to record at least each of those totals in a game and became just the eighth player in NBA history to do so.

TYLER WITH 20+: Tyler Herro scored at least 20 points in a career-long 16-straight regular season games from March 23 of last year through December 9 of this season. It's the sixth-longest 20-point streak in team history as he became just the third HEAT player to score at least 20 points in at least 16 consecutive regular season games, joining only Dwyane Wade (three times) and LeBron James (twice). Below are both Herro's and Miami's longest 20-point regular season streaks.

HAPPY NEW YEAR: Miami improved to 8-3 in New Year's Day games after defeating Detroit, 118-112, on January 1. The HEAT's 8-3 (.727) record on the holiday is the best in NBA history with a minimum of 10 games played. Below are the best overall New Year's Day records in NBA history (minimum 10 games played).

NEW YEAR'S DAY RECORDS	TEAMS
.727 (8-3)	Miami
.720 (18-7)	Philadelphia
.714 (10-4)	Denver
.679 (19-9)	New York

FIRST ROUNDERS: Miami had six of their own first round draft picks on their opening night roster, including Bam Adebayo, Tyler Herro, Kasparas Jakučionis, Jaime Jaquez Jr., Nikola Jović and Kel'el Ware. That ties as the most for any HEAT opening night roster in team history with their 1992 squad which featured Willie Burton, Kevin Edwards, Harold Miner, Glen Rice, Rony Seikaly and Steve Smith.

FOREIGN BORN: Miami's opening night roster included six foreign born players, including Simone Fontecchio (Italy), Vladislav Goldin (Russia), Kasparas Jakučionis (Lithuania), Nikola Jović (Serbia), Pelle Larsson (Sweden) and Andrew Wiggins (Canada). That marks the most for any HEAT opening night roster in team history, surpassing the previous high of four which happened three different times (2020, 2010 and 2009).

SELLING OUT: Miami has now sold out 669-straight overall games dating back to 2010, which includes the regular season, playoffs and three play-in games, marking the longest active streak in the league and the third-longest sellout streak in NBA history. Additionally, 386 of those 669 overall sellouts have been at over capacity, where fans have purchased Standing Room Only tickets in the Upper 400 Level. Below are the longest home sellout streaks in NBA history.

LONGEST NBA SELLOUTS	TEAM	DATES

ERIK SPOELSTRA (Portland)Regular Season Coaching Record: 815-599, currently in 18th seasonPostseason Coaching Record: 110-83, 14 postseason appearances

Erik Spoelstra is currently in his 18th season as head coach of the HEAT and his 31st as a member of the organization and is currently the longest active tenured head coach in the NBA with a single team after he was elevated to his current position on April 28, 2008. Spoelstra has totaled 14 postseason appearances, nine division titles, six conference championships and guided the franchise to a pair of NBA titles while also capturing an NBA Championship in 2006 as an assistant coach. Recognized as one of the game's best coaches, Spoelstra was selected as one of the NBA's 15 Greatest Coaches in NBA History and was named head coach of USA Basketball Men's National Team. Additionally, Spoelstra has earned Coach of the Month honors a franchise-record 10 times.

In his previous 17 seasons at the helm, Spoelstra has made his mark on the HEAT record book as the winningest coach in franchise history. Entering this season, he holds team records in wins, winning percentage and games coached. His 14 postseason appearances in his previous 17 seasons tie the second-most over that span in the NBA as Spoelstra has never missed the playoffs in consecutive seasons since becoming head coach as he also holds HEAT postseason records in wins, series won and games coached.

When Spoelstra first took over the head coaching duties in 2008, he was given the task of improving a young team that had been ravaged by injuries the previous season and had won just 15 games. He then recorded 43 wins in his first season, the most by a first year HEAT coach in team history, while on his way to a postseason berth. Miami became just the second team in NBA history to make the playoffs after winning 15-or-fewer games the previous season. The only other team to do so was the 1968-69 San Diego Rockets, in which HEAT President Pat Riley was a member of.

From 2010-14, Spoelstra took one of the most scrutinized teams and guided them to consecutive NBA Championships, four-straight Conference Championships and four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, becoming just the third franchise in NBA history to make four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, joining the Celtics and Lakers. It also made them just one of 10 franchises in the four major North American sports leagues to make four consecutive trips to the league championship. Individually, Spoelstra became just the fourth head coach in NBA history to lead his team to four-straight Finals appearances joining Red Auerbach, K.C. Jones and Pat Riley. Spoelstra also became one of just 13 head coaches in NBA history to have won multiple championships and only the eighth to win a championship in consecutive seasons.

The 2012 championship culminated a compressed 2011-12 season in which Miami went 46-20 and captured its second consecutive Southeast Division title. The regular season was highlighted by a nine-game win streak (Feb. 10-Mar. 1) with each victory a double-digit win. During that streak the HEAT became the first team to win road games on three consecutive nights (Feb. 12-14) since December of 1979 and the first to win each of those contests by double-digits since the 1970-71 season.

Before taking over as the sixth head coach in HEAT history, Spoelstra had served Miami in a number of roles in his first 13 years. He was originally hired as video coordinator and over the years was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator, assistant coach/advance scout and assistant coach/director of scouting, before ascending to head coach. He made a name for himself around the league with his game preparation and superb attention to detail. In his seven seasons as the HEAT's assistant coach/director of scouting, he had the primary role of developing game plans for upcoming opponents. To that end, he coordinated the video staff and advance scouts while overseeing the development of scouting reports and videos.

In 1992, he graduated from the University of Portland with a degree in communications. While attending Portland, Spoelstra was the starting point guard for four years and was named the West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year in 1989. Upon graduating he spent two years as a player/coach for Tus Herten, a team in the professional sports league of Germany.

He has returned to his native Philippines to host clinics and promote education, health and wellness to thousands of at-risk youth through grassroots programs and events. The nine-day program in Manila in the summer of 2011 was the largest NBA FIT event ever hosted in Southeast Asia under the NBA Cares umbrella. In the summer of 2012, Coach Spoelstra expanded his reach into other Southeast Asia nations by conducting coaches clinics and other FIT activities in Singapore.

Raised in Portland, OR, Spoelstra, who was inducted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2009, is the first Asian/Filipino-American head coach in any of the major North American sports leagues. Spoelstra is the son of Jon Spoelstra, a long-time NBA executive who has guided the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Buffalo Braves and New Jersey Nets. His grandfather, Watson, was a Detroit Tigers beat writer for many years. In his free time, Spoelstra enjoys spending time with his sons Santiago and Dante and daughter, Ruby, and their dog Rosie.
