THE BUZZ: HORNETS TEAM NOTES

Moose On the Loose

- Moussa Diabate has emerged as one of the league's prolific offensive rebounders during his Hornets tenure.
- Diabate currently leads the league in all major offensive rebounding statistics; total offensive rebounds (47), offensive rebounds per game (5.2) and offensive rebounding percentage (18.8%).
- The Hornets' team identity leans heavily upon generating extra possessions through offensive rebounds.
- In addition, the spacing created with an offensive rebound as the opposing defense scrambles to match up provides Charlotte with numerous open 3-point shot opportunities.
- Diabate possesses the relentless energy, hustle and basketball IQ required to become an elite offensive rebounder, all traits that the Hornets seek from each player on the roster.

Forging An Identity

- Charlotte maximizes the value of each possession by creating high-value shots and controlling the glass on both ends--Charlotte was among the best rebounding and 3-point shooting teams in the NBA last season, and there are plenty of signs that will remain the case in 2026-27.
- The Hornets again rank near the top of the league in all rebounding categories, bolstered by Moussa Diabate and Ryan Kalkbrenner pairing to lead the league in offensive rebounding percentage. Naz Reid ranks in the top 5 in defensive rebounding percentage.
- Offensively, Charlotte generates high-value shots with frequence; the Hornets lead the league in wide open 3-point attempts per game (22.6) despite having the fourth-lowest percentage (33.3%) on those shots. "Wide open" shots are defined as shots taken with the closest defender standing 6+ feet away from the shooter.
- With Diabate, Reid, Hannes Steinbach and Kalkbrenner in the frontcourt and Coby White, Brandon Miller, Grayson Allen and Royce O'Neale on the perimeter, the Hornets have tailored the roster to the team's principles and are well-positioned to take advantage of the opportunities these offensive and defensive concepts help create.

Consistent Production

- Grayson Allen ranks 2nd in total 3PM (32), 3rd in total points (141) and is in the top 25 in total assists (24) when coming off the bench.
- Allen is 6th among all players in 3PM (38) and is 9th in free throw percentage (91.9%) and 15th in 3-point percentage (46.9%).
- One of eight players in the NBA this season with 4+ games of 5+ 3PM (N. Alexander-Walker, S. Curry, L. Doncic, P. George, K. Irving, J. Murray, D. Robinson).
- Allen posted the 13th game of his career with 7+ 3PM and his 22nd-career 25-point game versus Philadelphia (Oct. 31).
- He logged the 12th game of his career with at least 20 points and 5 assists (Oct. 24 vs. MIA).
- The Duke product debuted with 21 points (5-8 3P, 4-4 FT) and 4 assists and led the team in scoring in Charlotte's season-opening win (Oct. 21 at BKN).
- Allen's skillset leans heavily into Charlotte's team concepts; he is a physical, competitive defender who makes smart, quick decisions with the ball and shoots threes at a high clip.

It's B-Miller Time

- Brandon Miller logged his third-straight 30-point game at Detroit (Oct. 28), becoming the first player in the NBA this season to post three-straight 30-point performances.
- In doing so, Miller logged the second 30-point double-double of his career. It was the first time in Miller's career that he has accomplished the feat.
- He set a new career-high with 39 points in a win over Washington (Oct. 26), the 15th 30-point game of his career.
- Miller's consecutive 30-point performances (Oct. 24 vs. MIA, Oct. 26 vs. WAS) were the fifth time in his career he had put up 30 points in back-to-back games.

Second-Fastest to 500 Career 3-pointers

- Brandon Miller became the second-fastest player in NBA history to reach 500 career 3-pointers made (Oct. 26 vs. WAS). Miller reached the mark in just his 170th career appearance.
- Duncan Robinson holds the record with 500 3PM in 152 games.
- Miller surpassed former teammate LaMelo Ball along with former Hornet Devonte ' Graham; Charlotte has three of the five fastest players to reach the 500 career 3PM mark in NBA history.

Two Words

- Charlotte acquired veteran forward Naz Reid over the offseason.
- In his Hornets debut, Reid put up 20 points (8-19 FG, 4-10 3P), 11 rebounds and 7 assists, becoming the first Hornet ever to record 20/10/5 in his franchise debut.
- Reid also became the third player in NBA history to record 20/10/5 with 4 3PM in his franchise debut, joining Jock Landale (ATL, 2/5/26) and Ray Allen (SEA, 2/23/03).
- 7 assists in Charlotte's season-opening win tied his career-high for assists in a game.
- Reid is the 2023-24 NBA Sixth Man of the Year, averaging 13.5 points, 5.2 rebounds and 1.3 assists that season. He has finished inside the top 5 in Sixth Man of the Year voting in each of the two seasons since.
- The Asbury Park, N.J., native helped Minnesota reach the Western Conference Finals in two-straight seasons followed by a Western Conference Semifinals berth last season.
- Last season, Reid was one of eight players to average 10/5/2/1/1, joining Victor Wembanyama, Alperen Sengun, Scottie Barnes, Anthony Davis, Jaren Jackson Jr., Onyeka Okongwu and Walker Kessler.
- Reid's physicality in the paint and versatility on both ends of the court accentuate the team identity that Jeff Peterson, Charles Lee, their respective staffs, and the players have been forging the last two seasons.
- On a given night, Reid is capable of shouldering a heavy load offensively, operation as a secondary scorer, or relying on his strength and versatility to influence the game defensively.

Six-Straight Season Openers

- Charlotte has now won six-straight season-opening games, the longest active season-opener win-streak in the NBA.
- Charles Lee is now 3-0 in season-openers in his head coaching career.
- Charlotte also beat Brooklyn in its season-opener last season.

Spread the Wealth

- The Hornets had five players score 17+ points in their season-opening win at Brooklyn (Oct. 21).
- Last season, the Hornets only played two games where five or more players had 17+ points.

Carolina Kid

- After acquiring Coby White via trade in February, the Hornets re-signed the Goldsboro, N.C., native to a multiyear contract over the summer.
- White averaged 15.6 points (46.1 FG%, 39.1 3P%, 83.9 FT%), 3.0 rebounds and 3.0 assists in 19.3 minutes per game across 21 outings with the Hornets last season.
- In those games, the UNC product shot 43% on above-the-break threes, ranking in the 94th percentile among guards per Cleaning The Glass.
- White also boasted a 27.4% assist rate down the stretch of the season with the Hornets, which ranked in the 85th percentile among guards per Cleaning The Glass.
- White's combination of floor-spacing, playmaking and free-throw generation (90th percentile in field goal attempts resulting in a shooting foul in 2025-26) strongly aids the Hornets in maximizing the value of each possession.

Bombs Away

- The Charlotte Hornets have five players on the roster who made at least 150 3-pointers last season: Grayson Allen, Kon Knueppel, Brandon Miller, Royce O'Neale and Naz Reid.
- No other team in the NBA has more than four such players on its roster, per Elias Sports Bureau.

CLEANING THE GLASS STATISTICS DEFINITIONS AND APPLICATIONS:

Effective FG%: A field goal percentage statistic that measures efficiency by giving extra weight to 3-point shots. The statistic adjusts traditional FG% to account for the fact that 3-point field goals count for three points, while all other field goals only count for two points. Can be used to demonstrate efficiency among players with a high concentration of either 2-point shots or 3-point shots.

Halfcourt/Transition points per play: A per-possession statistic that measures the number of points scored per 100 plays in either a halfcourt offensive setting or a transition offensive setting. A "play" is anything that results in a shot, turnover, or free throws. Can be used to highlight the differences in offensive efficiency on fast breaks or in the half court.

On/Off point differential: A statistic that measures the amount of points a team scores per 100 possessions subtracted by the amount of points a team allows per 100 possessions with a specific player on the court. Can be used to demonstrate how many points a team gains or adds when a specific player is in the game.

"Garbage Time": Cleaning The Glass statistics filter out statistics accumulated during the late stages of a blowout NBA game; commonly known as "garbage time." Cleaning The Glass defines "garbage time" in exact terms as follows: the game has to be in the 4th quarter, the score differential has to be greater than or equal to (>=) 25 for minutes 12-9, >= 20 for minutes 9-6, and >= 10 for the remainder of the quarter. Additionally, there have to be two or fewer starters on the floor combined between the two teams.

Importantly, the game can never go back to being non-garbage time, or this clock resets. For example, if it's a 30 point game to start the 4th quarter, but one team comes back and pulls the game within 8, that comeback is not counted as garbage time. If the leading team regains control and expands the lead back out, garbage time would start when the score went back above 10.

HORNETS HEAD COACH CHARLES LEE

Coaching Record in 2024-25: 19-63; Coaching Record in 2025-26: 44-38 Overall NBA Coaching Record: 67-108 (.383) (Third season)

Charles Lee was hired as the 12th head coach in franchise history on May 9, 2024. He has 10 years of coaching experience as an NBA assistant and has now completed two seasons as Head Coach of the Charlotte Hornets. Lee joined the Hornets after winning the 2023-24 NBA championship with the Boston Celtics and was named to The Athletic NBA's 40 Under 40 in August 2024.

Lee led the Hornets to a 25-win improvement from his first season to his second season patrolling the sideline, the largest year-over-year improvement in the win column in franchise history. Though Charlotte's record dipped to 16-28 early in the schedule, the team underwent a historic turnaround at the turn of the calendar. Under Lee's guidance, the Hornets ripped off a nine-game winning streak, the franchise's longest winning streak since 1999, and won 10-straight games on the road over a month-long span to set a franchise record for consecutive road victories.

In Lee's offensive system, the Hornets became the fourth team in NBA history to have three players—LaMelo Ball, Kon Knueppel and Brandon Miller—each record 200 3PM in a season. Ball and Miller each won Eastern Conference Player of the Week with Lee at the helm while Knueppel became the first rookie ever to lead the league in total 3-pointers made in a season (273), finished as the runner-up in Rookie of the Year voting and was unanimously selected to the All-Rookie First-Team.

Lee claimed his first-career Eastern Conference Coach of the Month award in January 2026 and helped ensure that Charlotte's hot streak carried through the end of the season, culminating in the first home postseason victory since 2016 when the 9-seed Hornets topped the 10-seed Miami Heat in the First Stage of the Play-In Tournament.

Prior to his time in Boston, Lee served five seasons (2018-2023) as an assistant coach for the Milwaukee Bucks, ascending to associate head coach and helping guide the team to the 2020-21 NBA championship. He started his NBA career as an assistant coach for four seasons (2014-2018) with the Atlanta Hawks. Throughout his 10 NBA seasons as an assistant, Lee's teams accumulated a 510-291 (.637) regular-season record, reached the playoffs nine times, captured seven division titles and earned five Eastern Conference No. 1 seeds. In four of his last six seasons as an assistant, his team finished the regular season with the best record in the NBA.

During Lee's 2023-24 campaign with Boston, the Celtics finished with the NBA's top record (64-18). Boston's 64 wins marked the fourth-most in a season in franchise history. With Lee's assistance, the Celtics led the NBA in offensive rating and net rating while finishing third in defensive rating.

While in Milwaukee, despite two COVID-shortened regular seasons, the Bucks averaged 54.2 wins over the course of Lee's five years with the team, including a 60-win campaign in 2018-19, tying for the third-most victories in a season in franchise history.

In Atlanta, Lee helped engineer a Hawks defense that finished in the top six in defensive rating three straight seasons. Atlanta won a franchise-record 60 games and advanced to the Eastern Conference Finals in Lee's first year with the team (2014-15),

Lee began his coaching career at his alma mater, Bucknell University, where he was an assistant for two seasons (2012-2014). He played four seasons (2002-2006) with the Bison, leading the team to two Patriot League titles and the only two NCAA Tournament victories in school history, including a win over No. 3 Kansas as a No. 14 seed in 2005. A 2017 inductee into the Bucknell Athletics Hall of Fame, Lee was the 2005-06 Patriot League Player of the Year, a three-time All-Patriot League selection and the first player in conference history to win back-to-back Patriot League Tournament MVP awards. Lee logged four professional seasons overseas with stops in Israel, Belgium and Germany.

A native of the Washington, D.C., area, Lee and his wife, Lindsey, have three daughters, Corinne, Vivian and Josephine.
