THE BUZZ: HORNETS TEAM NOTES

Triple Threat

- The Charlotte Hornets are the fourth team in NBA history with a trio of players to make 200 3PM in a season (Ball, Miller, Knueppel).
- The 2025-26 Hornets join the 2016-17 Rockets (R. Anderson, E. Gordon, Harden), 2022-23 Warriors (Curry, Thompson, J. Poole), and 2024-25 Celtics (P. Pritchard, Tatum, D. White) as teams to accomplish the feat.

Splash Brothers 2.0

- LaMelo Ball and Kon Knueppel are the second pair of teammates in NBA history to each record 260 3PM in a season, joining Stephen Curry and Klay Thompson.
- Curry and Thompson accomplished the feat in 2016-16, 2016-17, 2022-23 and 2023-24.
- Knueppel and Ball ranked #1 and #2 in the league, respectively, in 3PM on the season. Curry and Thompson are also the only other pair of teammates in NBA history to finish first and second in the league in 3PM for a season, doing so in four-straight seasons from 2014-17.
- The last time a player in the Eastern Conference led the NBA in 3PM was Ryan Anderson (166) on the Orlando Magic in 2011-12.

Charlotte Sharpshooters

- Charlotte solidified itself as one of the elite shooting teams in the NBA this season.
- The Hornets ranked in the top 3 league-wide in both 3-point percentage and free throw percentage this season; since Jan. 1, Charlotte led the league in both categories.
- Charlotte led the league in total 3PM as a team this season (1,343).
- Knueppel ranks 9th in 3-point percentage (42.7%) and led the league in 3PM while Ball sits in 2nd-place on the league 3PM leaderboard.
- Ball, Knueppel and Miller all averaged at least 3 3PM per game, making Charlotte one of two teams in the NBA (CLE) with three players averaging 3 3PM per game on the season.
- Three of the top 4 in the NBA in 3PM since Jan. 1; Ball (#1, 196), Miller (#3, 160) and Knueppel (#5, 156). Ball (240) and Knueppel (204) rank #1 and #2 going back to Dec. 1, while Miller ranks #5 (191) since then.
- Ball and Miller both ranked inside the top 10 in free throw percentage this season; the Hornets ranked 2nd in the league in free throw percentage as a team.

The Hornets Are Buzzing

- Since Jan. 1--a timeframe that spanned well over half the length of the entire season--Charlotte posted a 33-16 record and held the #1 net rating in the NBA (10.5).
- Charlotte's offense ranks #1 in the NBA (120.7 ORTG) and its defense ranks #5 (110.2 DRTG) in that span.
- The Hornets also ranked #1 in rebounding percentage (54.8%) and second-chance points (19.0) per game since Jan. 1. Charlotte's ability to turn extra possessions generated by offensive rebounds into points, along with limiting those opportunities for opponents, has given the Hornets a massive boost on the margins.
- More numbers from the last 49 games of the season; the Hornets ranked #1 in 3PM per game (17.3), #2 in 3-point percentage (38.7%), #2 in OREB% (37.0%) and #5 in true shooting percentage (59.6 TS%).
- In a larger 37-20 stretch that started on Dec. 14 with an overtime victory in Cleveland, the Hornets boasted the #1 offense (120.4 ORTG), #5 defense (111.5 DRTG) and were #4 in the league in net rating (9.0) behind the Spurs, Pistons and Celtics. Only four teams (BOS, DET, OKC, SAS) totaled more wins than Charlotte since Dec. 14.
- Since beating Cleveland on the road over four months ago, Charlotte led the league in 3-pointers made (17.5) by nearly two makes per game (second-place is at 15.6 3PM). The team's offensive approach and shot distribution have excelled across a large sample size and the players on the floor have capitalized on their opportunities with efficient shotmaking.

Buzz City Chemistry

- Charlotte's lineup of LaMelo Ball, Brandon Miller, Kon Knueppel, Miles Bridges and Moussa Diabate had the highest point differential (+27.4) of any five-man lineup combination in the NBA per Cleaning The Glass (min. 400 poss.). The Hornets are 31-9 when Ball-Miller-Knueppel-Bridges-Diabate comprise the starting lineup this season.
- Charlotte's starting lineup currently has the highest point differential of any five-man lineup (min. 500 poss.) since 2004, the full span of Cleaning The Glass' lineup-tracking data.
- Add Ryan Kalkbrenner into the mix at center; with a four-man group of Ball-Miller-Knueppel-Bridges plus either Diabate or Kalkbrenner, the Hornets went 37-12.
- Josh Green ranked #25 and Grant Williams ranked #29 in the league in on/off point differential, per Cleaning The Glass. LaMelo Ball ranked #33 in on/off point differential league-wide and Moussa Diabate climbed to #26 in the NBA in on/off point differential.
- The Hornets had four players in the top 35 league-wide in on/off differential. Competitiveness, activity, basketball IQ and floor-spacing provided by Charlotte's veterans has stabilized the lineup.

Control the Controllables

- The Hornets allowed a league-low 20.4 FTA per game for opponents, balancing out their opponents' efficiency at the line (80.1 opp. FT%, third-highest in the NBA) and displaying the disciplined yet physical defense Charles Lee expects from his team.
- Charlotte dominated on the glass this season, ranking at or near the top of nearly every rebounding statistic. The Hornets allowed the second-fewest offensive rebounds per game for opponents (10.2) and the fewest total opponent rebounds (39.3) while ranking #2 in offensive rebounding percentage (35.8%) and #2 in total rebounding percentage (53.8%) themselves.
- Taking away chances at extra points (free throws) and extra possessions (offensive rebounds) for the opponent--and creating them for themselves on the offensive end with high activity on the glass and physicality in the paint--stand out as reliable traits for this Charlotte team.

Kon's Record-Breaking

- Kon Knueppel set nearly every rookie record in the book for 3-pointers made.
- Against Donovan Mitchell and the Cavaliers on Feb. 20, Knueppel passed Mitchell for the #1 spot on the league leaderboard for 3PM.
- Knueppel became the fastest player in NBA history to record 100 career 3PM, doing so in just his 29th game when the previous record was 41 games (Lauri Markkanen).
- Then, he broke Charlotte's franchise rookie record of 185 3PM in a season, breaking a record set by Brandon Miller in 2023-24.
- Knueppel reached the mountain top for rookie shooters at Indiana (Feb. 26), setting the NBA rookie record for 3-pointers made in a season (207) with 21 games remaining on the schedule.
- Against New York (March 26), Knueppel, age 20, became the only player in NBA history age 22 or younger to record 250 3PM in a season.
- Knueppel is now the Hornets franchise record-holder for 3-pointers made in a season--the previous record of 260 was set by Kemba Walker in 2018-19 after playing all 82 games.
- On the season, Knueppel has averaged 20 points per game on 70% true shooting in seven isolated 10-game spans; no other rookie has done this once. Only 11 players total have accomplished this feat this season, including Giannis Antetokounmpo, Nikola Jokic, Shai Gilgeous-Alexander and Karl-Anthony Towns.
- Knueppel is only the second rookie in NBA history to ever average 20 points per game on 70% true shooting in any 10-game span (Chet Holmgren, x2).
- In all of NBA history, Knueppel is just the second rookie (min. 25 games played) standing 6-foot-6 or shorter to average 15 points per game on 60% true shooting along with Basketball Hall of Famer Adrian Dantley.
- Only three rookies in NBA history (min. 25 games played) have averaged 15 points and 5 rebounds per game while shooting 40% from 3-point range; Larry Bird, Paul Pierce, and Kon Knueppel.
- No rookie in NBA history has averaged at least 18 points per game on 63% true shooting or better other than Kon Knueppel. He is the only Hornet to reach those averages regardless of experience.

Taking the Show on the Road

- Following a 31-point win at Brooklyn (March 31), the Hornets tied the Spurs for the most road victories by 25+ points this season (8).
- With a win at Boston (March 4), Charlotte extended its franchise record to 10-straight victories on the road.
- 10-straight road wins gave the Hornets the longest active road winning streak in the NBA to that point. It was one of 19 road winning streaks of at least 10 games in the NBA since 2010.
- In those 10 wins, the Hornets had an average margin of victory of 18.6 points.
- Charlotte's 10-game road winning streak ended at Phoenix (March 8), but the Hornets have still won 16 of their last 20 road contests.
- After a 1-10 start on the road this season, the Hornets have since rebounded with a 21-8 record away from Spectrum Center.
- In January, the Hornets tied an NBA record for highest point differential in road wins in any month in NBA history at +158.

Streaking Towards History

- Charlotte strung together a pair of historical winning streaks this season.
- The Hornets had won six-straight games before the March 6 loss to Miami, all by 15+ points. That is the second-longest such streak in NBA history, tied with the 2017-18 Golden State Warriors. The 2003-04 Detroit Pistons hold the NBA record for consecutive wins by 15+ points (8).
- Charlotte's franchise-record road winning streak ended at 10 games with the March 8 loss at Phoenix. The NBA record for consecutive wins on the road in a single season is 16.

Tremendous Turnaround

- The Hornets got off to a 16-28 start this season as injuries plagued their bench depth.
- Since then, the Hornets posted a 28-10 record.
- The last time an NBA team went from 10 games below .500 to above .500 in the same season was the Memphis Grizzlies in 2019-20. The LA Clippers also accomplished the feat this season, but Charlotte did so sooner.

Another NBA 3PM Record in the Books

- Charlotte tied the NBA team record for 3-pointers made in a seven-game span (147) in the win at Boston (March 4).
- The Hornets broke the Celtics' own second-place record from the 2023-24 season by one make (146).

Raining Threes for Three-Straight Games

- Charlotte tied the NBA team record for 3-pointers made in a three-game span (72) in the win at Indiana (Feb. 26).

CLEANING THE GLASS STATISTIC DEFINITIONS AND APPLICATIONS:

Effective FG%: A field goal percentage statistic that measures efficiency by giving extra weight to 3-point shots. The statistic adjusts traditional FG% to account for the fact that 3-point field goals count for three points, while all other field goals only count for two points. Can be used to demonstrate efficiency among players with a high concentration of either 2-point shots or 3-point shots.

Halfcourt/Transition points per play: A per-possession statistic that measures the number of points scored per 100 plays in either a halfcourt offensive setting or a transition offensive setting. A "play" is anything that results in a shot, turnover, or free throws. Can be used to highlight the differences in offensive efficiency on fast breaks or in the half court.

On/Off point differential: A statistic that measures the amount of points a team scores per 100 possessions subtracted by the amount of points a team allows per 100 possessions with a specific player on the court. Can be used to demonstrate how many points a team gains or adds when a specific player is in the game.

"Garbage Time": Cleaning The Glass statistics filter out statistics accumulated during the late stages of a blowout NBA game; commonly known as "garbage time." Cleaning The Glass defines "garbage time" in exact terms as follows: the game has to be in the 4th quarter, the score differential has to be greater than or equal to (>=) 25 for minutes 12-9, >= 20 for minutes 9-6, and >= 10 for the remainder of the quarter. Additionally, there have to be two or fewer starters on the floor combined between the two teams.

Importantly, the game can never go back to being non-garbage time, or this clock resets. For example, if it's a 30 point game to start the 4th quarter, but one team comes back and pulls the game within 8, that comeback is not counted as garbage time. If the leading team regains control and expands the lead back out, garbage time would start when the score went back above 10.

HORNETS HEAD COACH CHARLES LEE

Coaching Record in 2024-25: 19-63

Overall NBA Coaching Record: 63-101 (.384) (Second season)

- In his first season as Hornets Head Coach, Lee oversaw the development of multiple contributors and helped establish a team identity rooted in physicality, discipline and intentionality. Most notably, Hornets forward-center Moussa Diabate was converted from a Two-Way contract to a standard NBA deal in Feb. 2025, and has remained a crucial member of the rotation since Lee began occasionally deploying him as the Hornets starting center last season.
- Hired as the 12th head coach in Charlotte Hornets history on May 9, 2024, Charles Lee holds 10 years of NBA assistant coaching experience and enters his second season as Hornets Head Coach.
- Lee most recently served as the Boston Celtics' top assistant in their 2023-24 NBA championship run. Under Lee's guidance, the Celtics finished the year with the NBA's top record (64-18), offensive rating (123.2) and net rating (11.6). Boston's 64 wins represented the fourth-most in franchise history.
- Prior to his time in Boston, Lee served five seasons as an assistant for the Milwaukee Bucks, ascending to associate head coach and helping guide the team to the 2020-21 NBA championship. During this time, the Bucks averaged 54.2 wins despite two COVID-shortened regular seasons. Milwaukee won 60 games in 2018-19, tied for the third-most in a season in franchise history.
- He began his NBA career as an assistant with the Atlanta Hawks from 2014-18, helping engineer a defense that finished in the top six in defensive rating three straight years. In Lee's first year with the team, Atlanta won a franchise-record 60 games and reached the Eastern Conference Finals.
- Throughout Lee's 10 NBA seasons as an assistant, his teams accumulated a 510-291 (.637) regular-season record, reached the playoffs nine times, captured seven division titles, earned five Eastern Conference No. 1 seeds and won two NBA championships. In four of his last six seasons, his teams finished the regular season with the best record in the NBA.
- Lee got his start in coaching at his alma mater, Bucknell University, where he was an assistant for two seasons (2012-14).
- Lee played four seasons with the Bison, leading the team to two Patriot League titles and the only two NCAA Tournament victories in school history, including a win over No. 3 Kansas as a No. 14 seed in 2005. A 2017 inductee into the Bucknell Athletics Hall of Fame, Lee was the 2005-06 Patriot League Player of the Year, a three-time All-Patriot League selection and the first player in conference history to win back-to-back Patriot League Tournament MVP awards. He logged four professional seasons overseas with stops in Israel, Belgium and Germany.
